D. APPLETON & COMPANY'S New Books

"An Epic of the West"

THE GIRL AT THE HALFWAY HOUSE

A Romance. By E. HOUGH, author of "The Story of the Cowboy." 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"'The Girl at the Halfway House' is a book of exceptional vitality, a series of swift-changing, kaleidoscopic pictures of one of the most interesting phases of American life--a phase which has passed away within the memory, and yet almost without the knowledge, of the present generation. It is a broad canvas that Mr. Hough has chosen for his pictures, and he draws them in with bold, unfaltering strokes that stand out in clear relief."—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

"A writer abundantly endowed with perceptions, a lively sympathy, a sense of humor and a rich and fluent style. His novel is unique in interest and charm. At once an attractive story and an enlightening study of one most picturesque phase of the development of America."—Chicago Record.

PINE KNOT

A Story of Kentucky Life. By WILLIAM E. BARTON, author of "A Hero in Homespun." Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"The humanity of the book will touch every reader. The quaint peculiarities of the community are introduced with picturesque effect, but eccentricities are only appropriate, entertaining accompaniments of a skillfully portrayed development of character and social life. The handling of the love story is satisfying. Few modern writers possess such a power of describing an interesting and generally unknown people so appreciatively, graphically and often humorously. The book has a vivid, cumulative interest."—The Congregationalist.

"A crisp and spirited story. It is a novel which has a permanent value, and the artist has done his work with unusual skill. He has given us human portraits and living pictures instead of landscapes and views of the mountains at sunrise or sunset."—Brooklyn Eagle.

IN CIRCLING CAMPS

A Romance of the American Civil War. By J. A. ALTSHELER, author of "A Herald of the West," "A Soldier of Manhattan," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"Mr. Altsheler has written a romance of the Civil War in which we feel a fresh and captivating genius. It is certainly an extraordinary book. Its freshness, vigor, abounding color, keen insight into the life of a volunteer soldier, broad, full grasp of military conditions and incidents, and its power of enthusiasm combine to make it a memorable romance."—N. Y. Independent.

NEW TOWN AND COUNTRY NOVELS

Each 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

THE FLOWER OF THE FLOCK

A Novel. By W. E. NORRIS, author of "Matrimony," etc.

THE JAY-HAWKERS

A Romance of Free Soil and Border Ruffian Days. By ADELA E. ORPEN.

BROWN OF LOST RIVER

A Ranch Story. By MARY E. STICKNEY.

THE LAST SENTENCE

A Novel. By MAXWELL GRAY.

THIRD EDITION.

"The fortunate author of the most popular novel of the year."—London Daily News.

THE FARRINGDONS

A Novel. By ELLEN THORNEYCROFT FOWLER, author of "Concerning Isabel Carnaby," "A Double Thread," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

NEW EDITION

CONCERNING ISABEL CARNABY

A Novel. By ELLEN THORNEYCROFT FOWLER, author of "The Farringdons," "A Double Thread," etc. With Portrait and Biographical and Critical Sketch. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

IN ITS SECOND EDITION.

THE WEB OF LIFE.

A Story of Chicago and the Pullman Strikes.

By ROBERT HERRICK, author of "The Gospel of Freedom," etc. Cloth, $1.50.

"A FINE AND POWERFUL STORY. . . . Mr. Herrick succeeds in presenting vividly a new and important phase in American life, the chafing of men of education against the growing restrictions of their individual freedom of action by the rapid increase of 'commercialism' in the professions. . . . It is a strong and good picture of American life, and should be read."—The New York Sun.

IN ITS THIRD EDITION.

A FRIEND OF CÆSAR.

A Tale of the Fall of the Roman Republic.

By WILLIAM STEARNS DAVIS. Cloth, $1.50.

"A delightful, carefully written romance."—Minn. Tribune.

"Vividly interesting, with a thrilling plot."—Burlington Free Press.

IN ITS FOURTH EDITION.

THE BANKER AND THE BEAR.

The Story of a Corner in Lard.

By HENRY KITCHELL WEBSTER. Cloth, $1.50.

"This is one of the few novels of the year which every man with blood in his veins will enjoy. . . . Through it all runs a delightful love story."—Boston Herald.

A new edition, with additions, of a work whose authorship is just now the subject of lively discussion.

Cloth, Crown 8vo. ELIZABETH AND HER GERMAN GARDEN. Price, $1.75.

"We find ourselves in the presence of a whimsical, humorous, cultured, and very womanly woman, with a pleasant, old-fashioned liking for homeliness and simplicity, with a wise husband, three merry babies, . . . a few friends, a gardener, an old German house to repose in, a garden to be happy in, an agreeable literary gift, and a slight touch of cynicism. Such is Elizabeth. It is a charming book."—The Academy.

NOTES IN SEASON.

BAKER & TAYLOR Co. have just published "The Trusts: What Can We Do With Them? What Can They Do For Us?" a brilliant discussion of the economic and industrial benefits springing out of the great trust problem, by Hon. William Miller Collier, N. Y. State Civil Service Commissioner and author of "Collier on Bankruptcy."

H. B. CLAFLIN COMPANY calls the attention of the trade to the new Teachers' Edition of "The Illuminated Holy Bible," with 600 original illustrations prepared at a cost of $50,000. They also announce that they absolutely control the De Wolfe, Fiske & Co. board books and juveniles for the season of 1900, and that these always rapid sellers are now ready for delivery.

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co., Boston, have in three weeks published three editions of "Up In Maine," stories of Yankee life told in verse by Holman F. Day, many of which gave delight in the columns of the Lewiston Journal; and have just ready an enthralling story of Indian school boy life by Francis La Flesche, entitled "The Middle Five." The latter has cover design and frontispiece by Angel De Cora, printed in colors.

LOTHROP PUBLISHING Co. have just ready "China's Open Door," a historical sketch of China and her people, by U. S. Consul-General Wildman of Hong Kong, with an introduction by Hon. Charles Denby, former U. S. Minister to China. The chapter on commerce is said by experts to be very valuable, the chronology of events that have brought about the present political situation is accurate, and ancestral worship, the fundamental principle of Chinese policy is thoroughly explained.

THE CENTURY Co. will publish shortly a one-volume edition of "Hugh Wynne," with the illustrations by Howard Pyle; a popular edition of Governor Roosevelt's "Ranch Life and the Hunting Trail," with ninety-four illustrations by Remington; also new editions of Dr. Edward Eggleston's "The Graysons, a story of Abraham Lincoln"; Harry Stillwell Edwards's "The Two Runaways"; also, a fourth revised edition of Richard Watson Gilder's "Five Books of Song." All of these, except the last, will appear in a new cover.

D. APPLETON & Co. have added to their Town and Country Novels some excellent summer reading. The newest comer is W. E. Norris's "The Flower of the Flock," and very popular are "The Jay Hawkers," by Adela E. Orpen; and "Brown of Lost River," by Mary E. Stickney. Distinct additions to the best fiction with American background are "The Girl at the Half-Way House," by E. Hough; "Pine Knot," by William E. Barton; and "In Circling Camps," by J. A. Altsheler. There is a new edition of Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler's "Concerning Isabel Carnaby"; and "The Farringdons" have reached a third edition.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY has issued the second volume of the "Cyclopedia of American Horticulture," that monumental work by Prof. L. H. Bailey, assisted by many experts, and are selling the 80th thousand of "The Reign of Law." Books of the hour, but of enduring reliability, are "Economic Crises," by Edward T. Jones; "World Politics," by Paul S. Reinsch; "Monopolies and Trusts," by Richard T. Ely; and "An Outline of Political Growth in the 19th Century," by Edmund Hamilton Sears, who practically holds the field alone, says the critical Nation, for events of the past twenty years. "The Web of Life," by Robert Herrick, is in its second edition; "A Friend of Cæsar," by William Stearns Davis, is in its third; and Henry K. Webster's "The Banker and the Bear" has reached its fourth edition. There is also a new edition of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden," with many additions.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sharpe type. She is beautiful and accomplished and utterly unscrupulous. Left friendless and penniless in London, she obtains a position as companion to a rich titled lady who is an inebriate. She intrigues with both the husband and son of Lady Wynston, marrying the former when death suddenly removes his wife. She divorces Lord Wynston to marry a cabinet Minister, but her "progress" is blocked after a few years of apparent social success, by her own inherent badness.

Fox, Frances Marg. Farmer Brown and the birds; il. by Etheldred B. Barry. Bost., L. C. Page & Co., 1900. c. 7-72 p. D. (Cosy corner ser.) cl., 50 c.

Because Farmer Brown kills a harmless little Jenny Wren, the birds bring his case before a judge and jury of birds to decide what shall be done with him. In the course of the trial the birds side is well set forth. It is shown that if it were not for their constant war upon insects, life on a farm would scarcely be endurable, nor would it be possible to grow fruit and other eatables in abundance. The King bird, the eagle, decides to banish the birds from the farmer's domain leaving him to the mercy of the bugs and insects.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 18, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week" issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE EXPENSES OF BOOKSELLING.

THE librarians have recently been giving much attention to the question, what it costs to shelve a book and what it costs to keep a book before the public. The bookseller should certainly have as accurate information of what it costs him to sell a book —or to do a dollar's worth of business. Yet we doubt if booksellers have given much thought to this all-important question put in this specific way, or to the individual items which make up this accounting. At this moment when the leading publishers, through the new Association, are giving fresh attention to the question of what should be the margin of discount, this matter assumes unusual importance, and we propose to ask retail booksellers throughout the country to consider the question of the cost of selling books in so specific a way as to bring out the individual facts, from which only a fair generalization can be made.

The estimates of the cost of selling books vary roughly from 10 to 20 per cent.—but it is usually not stated whether this is on the so-called retail price of a book or its actual selling price, or on the bookseller's actual investment. It is said that in some of the department stores the cost of doing business runs as high as 18 per cent. on the amount of business actually done—but we doubt if this is a fair generalization. Let us take a few of the most important items which a bookseller must face.

1. Rent: This item may fairly include heat and light, and perhaps the expense of keeping the store in order irrespective of its stock. It is an economic law, little understood, that "rent does not affect price"—though it does affect cost. To illustrate this specifically — perhaps the highest rent, in money, paid by any mercantile business would be that of the Wanamaker store on Broadway, New York, yet this rent distributed over the millions of business done would be less than the rent per dollar of the business of a book store in a small town amounting to less than $500 per year. The practical question here is not the total rent but the rent per dollar of annual business.

2. Services: This should include, of course, salaries or wages, and it may or may not include the services of the proprietor, commonly reckoned as profit. The proprietor of the smallest book store should, however, debit a remuneration not less than the rate paid a first-class mechanics—to put his services no higher—and unless he can figure this amount he is not only doing business without profit but at a loss.

3. Advertising: This includes not only advertising in newspapers but all forms of bringing the goods to the notice of the public or the public to the goods, such as circulars, etc. This may range from nothing up to the enormous amounts of money spent on advertising by the department stores, and it may be the most wasteful or the most profitable feature of the business.

4. Risk: This includes that certain loss—although an uncertain quantity—always involved in keeping a book store. No dealer in business is so infallible as always to buy the right stock and dispose of it at the right price. And the "dead horses" must be accounted for and charged into the cost of selling live books. What is true of the publisher in a large way is true of the retail bookseller in a small way—neither can expect to run a book business without allowance for the risk of loss on dead stock. The bookseller may reduce this element of cost by bargain sales and other methods of disposing of slow material—and this is a legitimate part of bookselling proper. But a positive loss, adding to that extent to the actual cost of selling, must be counted in.

5. General Expenses: This is a generalization which covers a multitude of sins both of commission and omission in most bookkeeping as well as in most bookselling—but we shall not attempt to analyze it at the moment. There should be included, for instance, here or elsewhere, interest on the capital which the bookseller has invested in his stock as well as the thousand and one items that will readily occur to any dealer.

As suggested above, there are at least three different money bases on which these items may be computed, in addition to the cost per unit of books sold. The most satisfactory and useful is probably that on the basis of business actually done. This brings into relation at once the fact that there are many charges which are reduced proportionately with every additional dollar's worth of business done in the year—but this rule has its limits. If publishers can so handle discounts as actually to stimulate local bookselling, the public should share the benefit of the saving per dollar or per book with the bookseller—so that both will gain by a better system of doing business. We shall be glad if retail booksellers will during this dull season do a little thinking and figuring on these points, and give us, either in letters for publication or confidentially, their estimates on these several points and their suggestions as to what other items of expense should be included in the general cost of selling books. We hope from such data to present later a scheme for the analysis of the expenses of bookselling that will be of practical value to the retail trade.

It is gratifying to know that if subscriptions for 45 copies can be had in America the scheme originated by the Royal Society of Great Britain for indexing scientific literature can be put into practical operation at once. We call attention to the letter from the Assistant Secretary of the Smithsonian Institute, printed elsewhere, in the hope that American libraries and book dealers will be prompt in making up the required number. Although this index may be thought of less value to the book trade than to libraries, it is nevertheless true that such an index should form a valuable part of the equipment of any large book store. We trust, therefore, that at least half the stated number of subscriptions may come from the American book trade.

SOUTHERN FREIGHT RATES AND CLASSIFICATION: ACTION OF THE N. Y. MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION.

The question of what freight classification will eventually govern traffic moving into and through the territory south of the Ohio, and east of the Mississippi River, is one that is arousing unusual interest in commercial circles throughout the South and the states contiguous thereto that have enjoyed close trade relations with that territory. On February 1, and again on June 1, the Southern Classification Committee, which is officially in charge of freight classification matters for the rail and steamship lines in control of the business of transportation to southern points, so extensively revised the merchandise classification list which had been in effect for many years, that the classification now in effect represents burdensome advances made in over two-thirds of the entire list of items classified. The Classification Committee has repeatedly had its attention called, through protests filed by the Merchants' Association and numerous commercial bodies of other cities, to specific instances of advances made that were prohibitory to trade with their section. But, notwithstanding that, meetings have been held by that Committee at Chicago on July 3, and at the Oriental Hotel, Manhattan Beach, this city, on August 7, for the apparent purpose of reconsidering their action in recommending the advances made, no action in the direction of promised reductions has yet been announced. Meanwhile, a feeling of mistrust as to the sincerity of the Committee in its professions of desire to rescind all irksome advances has developed. This feeling, which is general through the South, North and West, has been brought to the attention of the Railroad Commissioners of all the Southern States, who have arranged to meet at Lookout Mountain, Tenn., on August 29, and jointly take up the question of promulgating a general classification to govern freight in southern territory that will be reasonable, official and legal in that region.

The Merchants' Association has been invited to send a representative to appear in its behalf at the meeting of the Railroad Commissioners, and J. M. Langley, of the office staff, has been directed to attend. Mr. Langley, in his argument at Chicago, before the Southern Classification Committee on July 3, pointed out to them at that time the probability of just such a prospect, if the advances complained of were not modified. Since that time, the State Commissioners of the Carolinas, Georgia and Mississippi have declined to accept as legal the Southern Classification known as No. 27, which was issued on June 1.

The outcome of the meeting at Lookout Mountain will be awaited with deep interest by shippers and commercial bodies. But, meanwhile, plans which are being discussed among them for combining small shipments into carloads, and patronizing independent water lines to effect economies in transportation expenses will not be interrupted.

INTERNATIONAL CATALOGUE OF SCIENTIFIC LITERATURE.

A CONFERENCE was held in London, June 12 and 13, relating to "The International Catalogue of Scientific Literature," which the Royal Society of London has been planning for years. It was decided at the conference that 300 copies of such a catalogue, at $85 a copy, would fully cover the expenses of the catalogue. As one-half of these copies have already been bespoken—45 for England, 45 for Germany, 35 for France, 27 for Italy, 5 for Norway, and 6 for Switzerland—the Conference was satisfied that the remainder of the world would eventually subscribe to the other half. It was decided to make author entries and subject entries. Originally it was planned to make a card-catalogue as well as a bound volume catalogue, but owing to the great cost and the alleged unresponsive attitude of the Americans the catalogue will first be published in yearly parts only. The English had laid great stress upon subject entries that would give information beyond the mere title and include some descriptive notes based upon co-operation with authors and editors. The German government on the other hand has made arrangements for a complete catalogue of all German publications to be made at a "regional bureau" which does not look to authors or editors for co-operation. The German contributions, therefore, will only have full title entries without notes. The International Committee is to take into consideration the establishing and working of these "regional bureaus" throughout the world.

The Smithsonian Institution is sending out the circular which we print below, hoping to call out a good response from America:

August 6, 1900.

SIR: I am authorized by the Secretary to bring to your attention the fact that, after a number of discussions by scientific representatives of nearly all nations, it was decided at an International Conference held in London in June, 1900, to publish, beginning with the year 1901, an International Catalogue of Scientific Literature, which is to be issued only in the form of annual volumes at first. The Catalogue is to include both an Author and a Subject Index. It will comprise the following subjects:—Mathematics, Mechanics, Physics, Chemistry, Astronomy, Meteorology, (including Terrestrial Magnetism), Mineralogy (including Petrology and Crystallography), Geology, Geography (Mathematical and Physical), Palaeontology, General Biology, Botany, Zoology, Human Anatomy, Physical Anthropology, Physiology (including Experimental Psychology, Pharmacology and Experimental Pathology), and Bacteriology; in all 17 subjects. At least one volume will be given to each subject, and it is proposed that all the volumes shall not be issued at once, but in four groups, as soon as possible after the first of January, April, July, and October respectively. The subscription price for a complete set of the whole Catalogue in 17 volumes is £17, say $85.00.

The Smithsonian Institution has provisionally undertaken to represent the interests of the Catalogue in the United States, and will receive promises of subscriptions. The publication of the Catalogue cannot be undertaken unless subscriptions for about 300 complete sets a year (equivalent to about £5000) for five years be guaranteed beforehand. Germany has guaranteed subscriptions to the extent of 45 complete sets (or £750), and the Royal Society of London has guaranteed the same for Great Britain and Ireland; it is hoped that at least an equal number of subscriptions will be guaranteed in the United States. It is most important that the necessary guarantee for subscriptions should be completed before September 31st, at the very latest, hence it is desirable that promises of subscriptions in the United States should be sent in before September 15th.

The prices of individual volumes will be eventually fixed by the Central Bureau, and will vary, but so that the aggregate of the individual volumes will amount to £17. In England the Royal Society is making arrangements by which, in the case of special institutions desiring only parts of the whole Catalogue, the subscription for a complete set may be divided among them. It is learned that subscriptions to about 90 sets are yet required and of these, beside the 45 sets guaranteed by the Royal Society, a Fellow of that Society has guaranteed 45 additional sets on condition that the United States would subscribe for a like amount. It thus appears that the success of this undertaking now depends upon the subscriptions received in this country. Very respectfully yours,

RICHARD RATHBUN, Assistant Secretary.

D. APPLETON & CO. TO PAY IN FULL.

THE Chairman of the Reorganization Committee of D. Appleton & Co., James G. Cannon, is authority for the statement to the creditors of the firm that they will receive 100 cents on the dollar. Every claim has been deposited with the Metropolitan Trust Company. There are 128 banks and trust companies interested.

William Nelson Cromwell, counsel for the Reorganization Committee, will take steps immediately to organize a new corporation to take over all the assets from the receiver, J. Hampden Dougherty. This reorganization gives the house of D. Appleton & Co. ample capital to carry on its business, and negotiations are under way with various authors. It will place its publications of these authors both in this country and abroad.

Mr. Cannon will become a member of the Board of Directors of the new corporation, and will have charge of its finances. The Appleton plant is being overhauled, and the newest machinery will be installed, thus reducing the cost of manufacture.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

"THE LITTLE MINISTER" SUIT ABANDONED.

PROCEEDINGS in the Chicago courts brought to restrain Charles Frohman from producing Barrie's play, "The Little Minister," have been abandoned. Attorneys for the Publishers' Plate Renting Company, plaintiffs, concluded that Frohman's position was impregnable, and when a motion to dismiss on the 7th inst. was made by Howe & Hummel, counsel for Mr. Frohman, no opposition was made.

Charles Frohman's affidavit showed that in 1896 he entered into a contract with James M. Barrie and Addison Bright to write the play "The Little Minister," which, he states, is in many important respects different from the novel of the same name, and contains new characters, plots, and incidents original with Barrie and Bright. Mr. Frohman says that he paid the authors more that a hundred thousand dollars in royalties, and declares that the plaintiffs have no right to produce the play. He also made the point that while an author may copyright a book, an assignee may not, and that the novel was public property before any steps to copyright it were taken in this country.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE NATIONAL NEWSDEALERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE annual meeting of the National Newsdealers' Association will be held at 842 Broadway, Newark, N. J., August 21 and 22. There will be a parade and banquet on the evening of the first day's session. A considerable number of newsdealers have notified the secretary that they would be present. W. H. Skinner, president of the Newark Newsdealers' Association, 212 Bank Street, has charge of all arrangements and promises to make it worth while any dealer's time to attend whether he is seriously or socially inclined. The National Association will pay mileage to those travelling long distances. The officers of the Association are: President, T. F. Martin, New York City; First Vice-president, J. M. Shawcross; Second Vice-president, W. H. Skinner, Newark, N. J.; Secretary, F. R. Sampson, 437 Tenth Avenue, New York City; Custodian, W. R. Barber, Baltimore, Md.; Executive Committee, J. H. J. Riley. Providence, R. I.; C. F. Pettie, Bridgeport, Conn.; W. F. McCourt, Buffalo, N Y.; J. E. Gray, West Everett, Mass.; Geo. H. Kemp, Tottenville, S. I. The annual bulletin is now ready and may be obtained, with any other information desired, from the secretary.

OBITUARY NOTES.

DJEVAD PACHA, former Grand Vizier of Turkey, died at Constantinople on Friday, August 10. He was the author of "A Military History of the Ottoman Empire."

F. S. DEARBORN, one of the best known booksellers on the Pacific Coast, died recently. He did a prosperous business in Salem, Oregon. Mr. Dearborn was only 37 years old.

JAMES E. KEELER, director of the Lick Observatory at Mount Hamilton, died Monday, August 13. He was born in La Salle, Illinois in 1856. Prof. Keeler wrote extensively for The Astrophysical Journal and other technical periodicals.

ALEXANDER B. F. MAMREOV, one of the oldest members of the N. Y. Press Club, and author of "Iessat Nassar; or, the Story of Jesus, the Nazarene," which so much interested Orientalists upon its publication in 1895, died at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Wednesday, August 15. Mamreov was of Russian descent and was born in Jerusalem, about 50 years ago. His father devoted his large fortune to religious reform and was obliged to leave Russia owing to his opposition to some of the practices of the Orthodox Greek Church. He went to Austria and under the name of Finkelstein continued his religious work until his death at Jerusalem. The son was educated at Malta, and was afterwards made U. S. Vice-Consul at Palestine. In the early seventies he became private secretary to William H. Seward, and left this position to write for Appleton's Encyclopædia. He then went into journalism, beginning on The Tribune, then going to The Sun and finally to The Times, where he was at the time of his death. Mamreov was a remarkable linguist, and could speak and write English, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Russian and Arabic.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

IT is said Robert Barr will not finish Stephen Crane's "Linnet." It will be finished by his widow. Mr. Barr has so much work on hand that he has begged off from something he would have done admirably.

ZOLA'S new novel, "Work," will probably be ready for publication early next spring, if no unforeseen difficulties arise over the translation. This is the second of the series which the novelist calls Les Quatre Evangeles.

LOUIS C. ELSON, the Boston musical critic, has written a book called "Shakespeare in Music," now in press. It is the result of many years of research and of correspondence with Shakespearian scholars in this country and in Europe.

IT is gratifying to learn that the subscription which has been set on foot in Poland to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of Sienkiewicz's literary debut has been a great success. He is to receive the gift of an ancestral chateau belonging to his family, with a considerable park surrounding it.

WILLIAM VAUGHN MOODY, of the department of English composition at Chicago University, has written what he calls a "masque drama," entitled "The Masque of Judgment," treating symbolically a metaphysical theme. Small, Maynard & Co. will bring it out in the autumn. A writer of no little promise, Miss Josephine Preston Peabody, will issue a second volume of verse, "Fortune and Men's Eyes: New Poems, with a Play," through the same house.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS, (Henry Frowde,) has published three catalogues of the exhibits of the Oxford University Press at the Paris Exposition, the first being of the Educational exhibits. Those of Paper and Binding are noticeable for very attractive photographic illustrations, first of the university paper-mill at neighboring Wolvercote, which the antiquarian Hearne notes in operation in 1728 by John Beckford, "famous for making paper." Here is made that wonderful Oxford India paper which effects such incredible saving in bulk and weight, as is demonstrated by several object-lessons, with the aid of the camera. "Yappa bindings" are the specialty of this press, and are shown in many beautiful examples.

THE BUREAU OF ECONOMIC RESEARCH, (John R. Commons, director,) 35 Lafayette Place, New York, will begin shortly to publish a quarterly bulletin devoted mainly to index numbers of prices of commodities, stocks, and freight rates. The first issue will contain index numbers showing the movement of average yearly prices and freight rates for the years 1879 to 1900. Monthly and weekly quotations for 20 years have been taken of 66 staple commodities, 25 railway stocks, leading freight shipments by rail, and leading water freight rates. These have been reduced to percentages on the basis of the average prices and rates of the ten years 1879-89. The 66 commodities are subdivided into 10 groups according to the nature of their production, and the whole has been "weighted" from the standpoint of the value of the annual product of each in the United States. Comparison is made with other index numbers compiled in England, Germany, India, Japan, and the United States, also the leading financial and commercial statistics, such as call loans, time loans, bank clearings, volume of money, and other factors which affect the movement of prices and the volume of business. Certain data on wages and unemployment have been compiled for comparison. Diagrams presenting the results graphically have been added. It is intended to continue the publication of these index numbers from week to week in the weekly and daily press, and the quarterly bulletins will bring together the work of the intervening periods. The second bulletin, issued about October 1, 1900, will present the index numbers compiled by months for the interesting period from July, 1896, to date of issue. Material is being compiled for an extension of the index numbers to earlier years, which it is hoped to publish in succeeding issues. The bulletin will constitute a "barometer" of current social and economic movements, with the idea that it will become indispensable to economists, publicists, politicians, journalists, writers, and students. It has been compiled as a basis for exact knowledge on the questions of money, trusts, and transportation.

PICK-UPS.

"HAVE you any good cook-books?" asked the customer. "Yes, ma'am," said the new salesman, handing her a copy of "Red Pottage." "There seems to be more call for this than any other just now."—Louisville Journal.

OCCASIONALLY we get a "stumper," but a recent order from a rural town for "The Girl He Bought" was easily filled with "To Have and To Hold." L.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

R. H. RUSSELL will publish on the 15th inst. Frank Verbeck's book of humorous pictures entitled "A Handbook of Golf for Bears."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS announce "Ned Myers," said to be a hitherto unpublished book, by Fennimore Cooper. "Ned Myers," however, appeared in print in 1843.

SMALL, MAYNARD & Co. will publish shortly a work on China by Alleyne Ireland, which is said to have been devised to meet an American rather than a British demand.

LAIRD & LEE'S "Baby Goose" will be ready for the trade this week. This is one of the most attractive juvenile books which has been published for many a day. Everything is original.

HINDS & NOBLE who recently purchased the plates and copyrights of Sherrill's "New Normal Question Book" and Henry's "New High School Question Book," have issued new and revised editions of both books.

BANCROFT-WHITNEY Co., "Deering's California Digest, 112-125 California Reports," the second supplement to the accumulating state law literature. The tables of cases are an absolute necessity to the busy practitioner.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. have in preparation a story of the Huguenots of the time of Louis XIV., by Mr. Imlay Taylor, to be entitled "The Cobb'er of Nimes"; also, "The Handsome Brandons," another one of Katherine Tynan's fascinating Irish stories.

DODD, MEAD & Co. intend bringing out at the end of this month a new work on Pompeii by Pierre Gusman, a young French artist of distinction. It is to combine absolute trustworthiness with an inspiring artistic element, and the illustrations for it will be of great value.

D. APPLETON & Co. announce "Private Chivalry," a new novel by Francis Lyade for early publication. The scene is Colorado, both in its mining camps and in the delightful social life of Denver. A second edition of Dr. W. E. Barton's "Pine Knot" is already under way.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. announce that "Pushing to the Front" has been translated into the Japanese language and is now used in the schools of Japan as a text-book. Alexander Rossi, the leading educator of Italy, has recommended that the book be made obligatory in Italian schools. In Holland and other countries there is also a demand for it.

BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY, Indianapolis, will publish about September 1, "The Life and Writings of Thomas Jefferson," by S. E. Forman; "Songs from Dixie Land," by Frank L. Stanton; "The Penitentes," by Louis H. How; "Alice of Old Vincennes," by Maurice Thompson; "Patroon Van Volkenberg," by Henry Thew Stephenson; "With Hoops of Steel," by Florence Finch Kelly.

ROBERT CLARKE CO., Cincinnati, have just issued a reference book for amateur collectors entitled "Prehistoric Implements," giving descriptions of the ornaments, utensils, and implements of pre-Columbian man in America. The book has 621 illustrations showing 3000 specimens. The author estimates that there are some 5450 persons in the United States and Canada interested in this subject of which only 50 are professionally connected with archæological museums.

JAMES POTT & CO. are preparing new handsome editions of the poets for the gift-season. Their remarkable facilities for manufacturing leather bindings enable them to offer a very superior line of leather poets. New sets will be the Cambridge Poets and the Grolier Poets, seventeen poets in slightly different styles of binding. There will also be "Soap Bubble Stories" for children, by Fanny Barry, profusely illustrated by Palmer Cox; a revised edition of Victor Tissot's "Unknown Switzerland," and an edition of "Rasselas" in the Gem Classics.

THE CENTURY COMPANY anticipates the centenary of Hans Christian Andersen by a few years in preparing for publication in the autumn the most beautiful edition yet planned of the perennially interesting "Fairy Tales." The volume is so thoroughly Danish as to be in everything but printing a national monument. Brækstad is translator; Tegner illustrator, while the book is to be dedicated to the Danish-born Princess of Wales. The numerous full-page illustrations are excellent wood-cut reproductions of the unique Tegner paintings, which have been in progress for eleven years with the support of the Danish Government, and, destined eventually for the Copenhagen museum, are now on view at the Paris Exposition. The book is an exceptionally handsome piece of bookmaking, in the best style of the De Vinne Press.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO. have just ready a novel by Dr. José Rizal, entitled "Noli Me Tangere," which the translator calls "a poet's story of his people's loves, faults, aspirations, and wrongs." Dr. Rizal is a Filipino who has spent most of his life in Europe. In Madrid, when only twenty-one years old, he won the degree of Ph.D. and M.D. In Germany he also took university honors, in Austria he won fame as an oculist, in France, Italy, and England he created notable works of sculpture and in Paris and Berlin he rapidly established a reputation through his able articles on the conditions in his native land. They will publish next week Morley Roberts's latest book, "The Fugitives," a story of the South African war; also Anna Katherine Green's new detective story "The Circular Study," which takes its name from the shape of the room in an old New York house in and around which most of the action of the story develops. They will publish early in October Edwin Markham's "Second Book of Poems," which will contain several poems not before published. A note of hopefulness runs through the volume quite in contrast to the pessimism which most of the critics read into his "Man with the Hoe."

FOREIGN.

THE copyright of the "epochal book of the century," Darwin's "Origin of Species" (published in 1859), is shortly to expire. John Murray announces a half-crown edition, handsomely printed, to be ready before the end of the year.

LOW, MARSTON & CO. have just issued "China and the Present Crisis," by Joseph Walton. Just a year since the Member of Barnsley started on his far Eastern travels to examine "on the spot" the political and commercial situation in China, in the interests not only of British commerce, but of the trade of the world generally. In this way Newchwang and Tien-Tsin were successively visited, and then the capital, where the author first heard of the early outrages of the "Boxers," that have since developed into the present crisis. In the preface, dated only a few days ago, with the present state of the conflict before him, Mr. Walton pleads earnestly for a "firm and definite policy with resolution and vigor at this juncture"; and he adds that the commercial interests of the Empire have more at stake in establishing a firm Government in China, than the whole results of the South African war put together.

OTTO HARRASSOWITZ, of Leipzig, has just ready a memorial volume of the quincentenary celebration of Gutenberg's birthday prepared and edited by order of the city of Mayence by Dr. Otto Hartwig. The volume, entitled "Festschrift zum fünfhundertjährigen Geburtstage von Johann Gutenberg, im Auftrage der Stadt Mainz herausgegeben," etc., contains a preface by Dr. Hartwig, and the following contributions: "Vorstufen der Typographie," by W. L. Schreiber; "Der Stempeldruck vor Gutenberg und die Stempeldrucke in Deutschland," by Franz Falk, with a plate; "Genealogie des Mainzer Geschlechtes Gänsfleisch," by Gustav Freiherr Schenk zu Schweinsberg, with three plates; "Die urkundlichen Nachrichten über Johann Gutenberg," by Karl Schorbach, with twenty plates; "Die Mainzer Psalterien von 1457, 1459, 1490, 1502, 1515, und 1516 nach ihrer historisch-liturgischen Seite," by Franz Falk; "Die Zweifarbigen Initialen der Psalterdrucke von Johann Fust und Peter Schöffer," by Heinrich Wallau, with six plates; "Der Türken-Kalender für 1455, ein Werk Gutenbergs," by Arthur Wyss, with five plates; "Zür frühesten Verbreitung der Druckkunst," by Wilhelm Welke; "L'imprimerie en France au xve siècle," by L. H. Labande; "Deutsche Buchdrucker in Spanien und Portugal," by K. Häbler; and "I tipografi tedeschi in Italia durante il secolo xv.," by Demetrio Marzi. The volume, a large quarto, has been printed by Philipp von Zabern of Mayence, so that its typographic setting may be considered entirely worthy of the contents. A limited number of copies is for sale at 50 marks. To give the matter the widest possible circulation, it will shortly be reprinted in unabridged form, with all the plates, as supplement No. 23, to the Centralblatt fuer Bibliothekswesen, at about half the price of the memorial edition.

PERSONAL NOTE.

JOSEPH F. TAYLOR, of J. F. Taylor & Co., N. Y., Mr. Joseph Kauffman of the American Baptist Publication Society, and Mr. Elbridge S. Brooks, of the Lothrop Publishing Co. are at Stone Haven, Cape Porpoise, on the Coast of Maine for their summer vacation.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BATH, N. Y.—The Hon. Frank Campbell bought the book stock and fixtures of Gage & McNamara at the trustee's sale, for $1400, and the store was reopened under the management of Mr. McNamara.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—John J. McGann has opened his new book and periodical store at the corner of Lambert and Cambridge Streets.

DETROIT, MICH.—W. Sheehan & Co. will remove to their elegant new store, 160 Woodward Ave., Sept. 1. They will have much larger and commodious quarters for their rapidly increasing business.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents a line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

American Catalogue

1895–1900

Author-and-Title Alphabet; Part I: A–J.

THE new volume of the American Catalogue covers books recorded from July 1, 1895, to January 1, 1900, including books with the imprint 1900 issued within 1899, and also books of 1899 recorded after January 1, 1900. Part II. of the Author-and-Title Alphabet may be expected in November, and the work will be completed with Subject Alphabet, Part III, in the first part of 1901. The first alphabet will contain approximately 550 pages, as compared with 498 pages in the 1890–1895 volume, and the subject alphabet approximately 275 pages as compared with 251 pages. Appendixes for Government Publications, State Publications, and Publications of Societies, now otherwise provided for, will not be given in this volume.

The edition will, as before, be limited, so that orders should be placed promptly in advance. The price to advance subscribers will be, as heretofore, $10 in sheets or $12.50 in half morocco, to be raised after publication to $12.50 in sheets and $15 in morocco. Subscribers should designate whether they wish the work forwarded in parts or delivered complete. The fact that most of the previous volumes are out of print and selling at extra price suggests the value of investment in this completing volume of the present series.

CHINA'S OPEN DOOR.

An Historical Sketch of China and Her People.

By U. S. CONSUL-GENERAL WILDMAN of Hong Kong.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION BY

Hon. CHARLES DENBY, former U. S. Minister to China.

Col. Denby Says:

"It is clear, concise in language, easy to understand, and opens up vistas of information which until now have been unknown to the general reader.

"Ancestral worship, the fundamental principle of Chinese policy, is well and forcibly explained. Chinese conservatism, which has held China fixed as the northern star, is thoroughly elucidated.

"He has brought out many new facts and his chronology of events is perfect.

"This book is valuable because it tells you accurately with dates, things you know and many things that you do not know.

"His chapter on commerce is worth the price of the book."

Gilt top 12mo, twelve illustrations, $1.50.

The Trusts:

What Can We Do with Them? What Can They Do for Us?

By Hon. WILLIAM MILLER COLLIER, New York State Civil Service Commissioner, author of "Collier on Bankruptcy," etc. 12mo, 348 pages, cloth, $1.25; paper, 50 cents.

A brilliant discussion of the economic and political questions springing out of the great trust problem, dealing with the industrial benefits and evils of trusts, and also the necessary restrictions and limitations that must be put upon them.
